Dear Friends,

Lent began yesterday with the Ash Wednesday Worship and the remembrance of our call to fast and pray, to sacrifice and reconcile. I can remember what a high holy day Ash Wednesday was when I was growing up in the Roman Catholic Church. We made public pledges about what we were giving up (surrendering) and for which things we sought forgiveness and reconciliation. These days many people, inside the church as well as outside the church, don't know why we even commemorate this day.

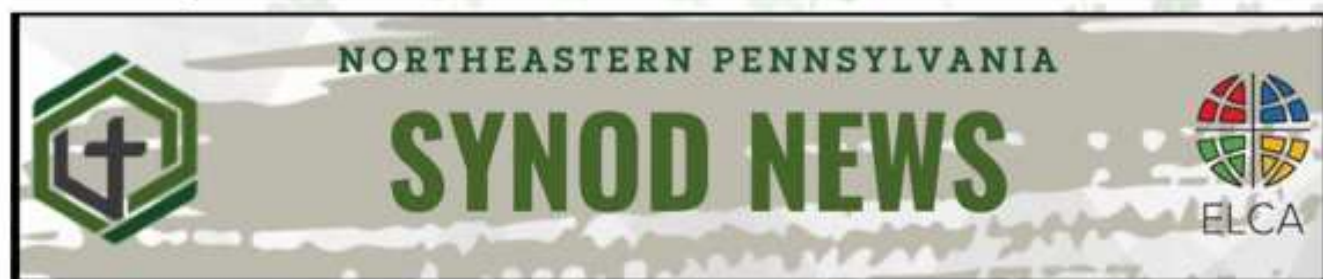

The readings for Ash Wednesday worship outline the reasons why:

- Joel proclaims the need to rend our garments and return to God;
- Isaiah proclaims the need to move into humility and the care of the least and lost among us;
- The Psalmist seeks mercy and forgiveness;
- The Epistle reading reminds us to move from sin and to face our difficulties with purity, knowledge, patience, kindness, holiness of spirit, genuine love, and truthful speech; and,
- The Gospel lessons reminds us to forget false and public piety and move into quiet relationship and prayer with God.

Those are big asks for anyone. We live in a world that is more focused on success, personal gain, personal achievement, pride, and even arrogance. Lent is a time to look at ourselves, our relationship with God and with our neighbor, and move back to God as we journey through this life. Seeking care for others, quiet reflection, peace, justice, love for neighbor, and reunion with God are the tasks of Lent. We walk these 40 days with Jesus, moving from Ash Wednesday through to the sharing of Passover on Maundy Thursday and the crucifixion on Good Friday. This is a season to seek contemplation and reconciliation with God and with our neighbors. This is a season to care for the least among us and seek justice and peace in relationships and the world. Lent is the time to move back, to turn around, to seek God more than anything else.

Our faith journeys are not always easy. The path laid before us is not always simple to see or travel. Yet, we walk with each other, as disciples of Jesus, traveling to Holy Week and the ultimate celebration of Resurrection. Yet, to skip the challenging work of Lent hollows the celebration of Resurrection. Let us do the work of Lent, so we can celebrate Easter with our whole mind, whole body, and whole spirit. May it be so.

Blessings, Bonnie

Cultivating Generosity

Throughout the fall our congregations are often focused on stewardship and gratitude for the generosity of members. Folks provide stewardship talks, members complete commitment cards, and sermons are proclaimed to encourage generosity of time, talent and finances. But did you know that our ELCA Congregation and Synod Support Team offers training and recommendations on cultivating generosity?

This past fall, in partnership with the Lake Institute on Faith and Giving, stewardship leaders from eight congregations, representing four ELCA synods, came together for a training series called "Cultivating Generous Congregations" (CGC). Over seven weeks leaders from these eight congregations gathered online as a cohort with the Lake Institute's trained faculty and each other. Cultivating Generous Congregations maps the new landscape of religious giving and provides congregational teams with tools to build a culture of generosity unique to each congregation's needs, challenges, and opportunities. CGC explores theology, the role of adaptive leadership, fiscal transparency, and the importance of giver care, with action steps to impact the exploration of generosity and energize congregational generosity to take the significant and necessary steps to creating lasting cultural change.

Following the final session, the eight congregations received a year of access to the Lake Institute's numerous stewardship resources, as well as optional coaching to assist in the implementation of these practices. Mission Support funds the opportunity for congregations and leaders to learn from stewardship experts and one another and to grow together so that their local mission, and how God is growing generosity, can be told in more effective ways in today's culture.
